A Yard of Sweet Clover."

The illustration above conveys only a faint conception of the picture. It is a marvelous work of art—a frieze, 53/4x36 inches in size, representing a gracefully blended collection of sweet clover blossoms painted in 12 colors. The genius of the artist and the skill of the lithographer have combined in revealing a singularly beautiful effect. In delicate and harmonious design—in abstract beauty—it excels anything of a similar character that has been before produced. The beneficent influence of such a picture is felt in every household it enters, and we make it possible for every one to possess a copy.

Grosscup, United States district judge for the northern district of Diinois; Charles C. Cole, of the District of Columbia, to be associate justice of the suprems court of the District of Columbia, vice James, retired.

House-Little business was transacted today. Representative Scott, of Illinois, infro-duced in the house a bill providing that here-after the tax on distilled spirits be fixed at $1.25 per gallon.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—SENATE—Mr Cockrell (Mo.), called attention to a resolution he had introduced providing for the printing of a large number of the latest reports of the civil service commissions for distribution. Mr. Cockrell stated that if the report was printed it would relieve senators and members of the duty of writing a great many letters asking for in-formation. Mr. Manderson, chairman of the committee on printing, replied that he did not committee a griang, replied that he did not apprehend that senstors on that side of the chamber would feel the same degree of interest in this matter that Mr. Cockreil and his associates might, but he gave assurance that the committee would give the resolution in question prompt consideration.

House—The house did a little business of or general interest. Both branches adjourned no general interest. Both branches adjourned early.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—SENATE—It seems impossible for congress to better itself before the holidays. Mr. George continued his speech on the anti-option bill in the senate, and then adjourned.

HOUSE.—The house was in session less than two hours and did nothing in that time to take itself out of the common-place. The house went into the committee of the whole on the army appropriation bill, but did not tarry long with it. The committee on military affairs, of which Mr. Outhwaits is chairman, got the mil-itary bill ready early this year, and it will not be the fault of the chairman if it is not promptly disposed of. The senate and house committees on immigration held a joint meeting to day and discussed the bill introduced by Senator Chandler to suspend immigration. It was shown by communications received from experts that it would be positively necessary to suspend immigration for a period in order to keep the obselves out of the country next year. The joint committee took no action on the bill, but adjourned till Friday, when the representatives of the creat strengths lives will be be the fault of the chairman if it is not promptsentatives of the great steamship lines will be

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 .- SENATE-Mr. Carlisle introduced a bill for the benefit of Adam E. Supplee, of Harrison, O. It provides that the letters patent granted to Charles J. Higgins for improvement in blackboard crasers, on the 25th day of December, 1876, shall be extended to Stanley Craig, of Covington, Ky., for a period of seventeen years from December 28, 1876, for the sole and separate use of Mrs. Anna C. Supplee, Stanley Craig being the assignee of all rights granted by letters patent, and holding the same for the use and benefit of Anna C. Supplee. The senate adjourned until Monday.

House Representative DeArmond, of Missouri, to day introduced a resolution providing for the election of the president and vice president by the direct votes of the people, and a distribution of the electoral votes in propor-tion to the number of votes coat for each candidate. A novel feature of the resolution provides that if either house certifies that the result of the election depends upon the votes of any specified state, and that it ought to be ju dicially determined for whom the votes should be counted, there shall be convened at Wash-ington on the fourth Wednesday in January a court of chief justices, consisting of the chief justice of the supreme court, and the chief jus-tice of the highest court in each state to hear and determine all questions raised by either house. The judgment of tals court shall be final. Adjourned until Saturday.

Four Thousand Gallons of the Stuff Captured in North Carolina.

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 19. - The revenue collector has news of a very large selz-ure of illicit distilleries in Wilkes and Catawba counties. In the former excellent detective work was done by a man named Osborn, who gave the officers points as to the location of ten stills, all of which were cut up. Osborn has left that part of the country, but moonshiners, who are in business in Wilkes, say they are again in danger of betrayal.

There was a sharp fight in Catawba. where Deputy Collector Jones and a large party raided the notorious South mountain section. They went in under are, but none were hurt. They saptured three stills and one moonshiner.

For many years the deputies feared that section, and in the first raid failed entirely, though it was only a year ago. In the last raid 4,000 gallons of liquor were seized.

Fire la a Brooklya Warehouse. BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec. 15. - Shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday morning fire was discovered in the large cotton storage warehouse of D. S. Armott, on the river front, between Twenty-seventh Twenty-eighth streets, South Brooklyn. At 10 o'clock, while the fire was still burning fiercely, one of the walls fell, burying, it is said, twelve firemen, many of whom it is thought are killed. The loss will be heavy.

The Seventh Bridge.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 19.-The new bridge across the Licking river between Covington and Newport, Ky., was thrown open Sunday for public travel. The bridge is a beautiful structure of the cantilever pattern, and is 1,000 feet long. This makes the seventh bridge in this vicinity. The bridge is the one where a number of people were killed and injured some months ago by the giving way of the false work.

Want to Extend the Fair.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.-There is a good deal of talk among the World's fair directors and others immediately con-nected with the management of the "White City" of continuing the fair for another year after November next. The leaders believe that six months is rather a short time for the life of the splendid palaces which have been erected at Jackson park. Of course it all depends on the success of the fair, next upon the willingness of exhibitors to maintain their displays a second season and the consent of the south side park
